AVYVE's McCleary is a finalist for Small Business Person of the Year

Atlanta, GA – May 21, 2004 – Merry McCleary, President and CEO of AVYVE was selected as a finalist for the 2004 Small Business Person of the Year Award by the Metro Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. McCleary was one of five Atlanta business persons named as finalists for the annual award.

"From day one I decided not to focus on revenues, but instead to develop a well-thought-out plan so that we could maintain quality as we grew," said McCleary, the company's president and CEO.

Selection of the finalists was based on community involvement, response to adversity, innovativeness of products and services offered, as well as the growth of a company's revenue and employees according to the Chamber. Candidates also had to be a member of the Metro Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, a primary owner or shareholder and also an entrepreneur.

Ms. McCleary, with eighteen years of industry experience, founded AVYVE in 1998. AVYVE is a premiere integrator of visual communications, specializing in the design and installation of a broad range of technologies. The company focuses primarily on the needs of corporations, medical institutions and colleges, increasing the effectiveness of internal meetings, presentations, training and teaching processes, as well as providing a more cost-effective way to manage network and operational control centers.

AVYVE's client list includes: Accenture, BBDO, Choice Point, Coca Cola, Convergent Media, Cox Enterprises, Emory University, Lockheed Martin, Manhattan Associates, SunTrust Banks and Tennessee Valley Authority.

About AVYVE:

Established in 1998, AVYVE is a nationally recognized audio visual system integrator headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia. A team of industry veterans specialize in the integration of a wide range of visual communication solutions for their corporate, medical and higher educational clients, as well as the homes of their leaders. AVYVE's strict focus is on the design, implementation, training and maintenance of their clients' systems.
